SPECIAL SHOW TO BE GIVEN IN BENEFIT OF STARVING

Washington Theater and Boys' Band Will Give Entertainment For the Benefit of Relief Fund Sunday, January 30th.

Arrangements were completed this morning for a big benefit performance at the Washington theater on Sunday, January 30th, for the European Relief Fund and it is expected that a neat sum will be collected by means of this entertainment which will go to the credit of Mason county.

The management of the Washington theater has contributed the use of the theater and in addition will contract for a high class feature picture. The management of the Boys' Band will have the band at the opera house and will play a delightful concert. A minimum charge of fifty cents will be made at the door but those attending may contribute as much as they desire. Every penny taken in at this benefit performance will be forwarded to the European Relief Fund there being no expense whatever attached to the entertainment, the Washington Fire Company and the Boys' Band standing all expenses.

The appeals for contributions to this fund are fresh in the minds of the people of this section. Many local people have contributed liberally while there are others who have not been given the opportunity. This entertainment will give good and wholesome entertainment and will at the same time offer a splendid opportunity for contributing to this worthy cause and helping to feed the 3,500,000 starving children in Europe.

Complete announcement of the program for both the band and the theater's show will be made as soon as possible and it is expected that the theater will be filled to overflowing on Sunday afternoon, January 30th.

In connection with the Congress there will be a great show of road improvement machinery and standard roads will be built during the stay of the delegates in Chicago.

EVIDENCE EXPECTED TO BEGIN IN WINNES' CASE ON MONDAY

Dr. H. C. Winnes Goes on Trial for Miss Parson's Murder — Evidence May Be Started on Next Monday.

Harlan, Ky., Jan. 21. — The little town of Harlan, county seat of Harlan county, yesterday became the scene of the most sensational murder trial in its history.

Long before the case of Dr. H. C. Winnes, Jenkins, Ky., former Assistant State Veterinarian, charged with the murder of Miss Laura Parsons, Pino Mountain school teacher, last September, was called by W. T. Davis, Circuit Court Judge of Harlan and Bell counties, the courthouse was filled with mountaineers who came from miles away.

When Judge Davis sounded his gavel on the desk, Dr. Winnes accompanied by his attorneys, D. C. Hall and Thomas Jones, took seats up in front. Following closely behind Dr. Winnes were his wife and two daughters.

After the charge was read Attorney Jones handed an affidavit to Judge Davis which contained the testimony of Dr. Winnes' most essential witness, A. B. Broughton, who is sick at his home in Knox county. Mr. Broughton was a night guard at the Harlan county prison camp until two months ago when he was discharged by Colonel C. M. Green, State Prison Inspector, because he conducted a quiet investigation of the murder of Miss Parsons.

Attorney Jones asked the court to discontinue the case until Mr. Broughton should be able to attend court. Judge Davis said he could not do that under existing circumstances, and asked Mr. Jones when he thought Mr. Broughton would be able to make his appearance. The answer of the attorney was that the witness might appear on Monday. After considerable discussion between Attorney A. Floyd Bird for the commonwealth and the attorney for the defense, Judge Davis ordered the Sheriff to make preparation for selecting the jury. Examination of 300 tallesees from all parts of Harlan county will start tomorrow afternoon.

Before dismissing the witnesses for the commonwealth and defense, Judge Davis read the contents of the affidavit of Mr. Broughton. In the document Mr. Broughton said that he would testify that the prisoners at the Harlan County Prison Camp were allowed to travel unaccompanied about the country. He further said that the officer on guard at the prison camp made no efforts to find the party responsible for the murder of Miss Parsons.

Mr. Broughton said he also would testify that five minutes after Miss Parsons passed the prison camp, two negroes, unaccompanied, went up the trail and remained away for an hour and a half. These negroes had no duty in the vicinity, Mr. Broughton said.

In conclusion Mr. Broughton's affidavit said that he was discharged as night guard because he was investigating the murder among the convicts.

Judge Davis said he probably would take two days to select the jury and instructed the witnesses for both sides to be in court on Monday morning. Judge Davis issued an order allowing the defense or prosecution to bring Mr. Broughton into court on a warrant, if they desired.

LOCAL HANDMASTER CHOSEN JUDGE IN CONTEST.

M. George R. Barnard, director of the Maysville Boys' Band, has been signally honored by being chosen one of three judges to act in a competitive concert to be given by all the juvenile bands of the state of Wisconsin. This is indeed an honor to Mr. Barnard and a very great honor to Maysville as it indicates that the Maysville Boys' Band has one of the best three juvenile hand directors in the nation according to the notion of the musicians of that state in which there are many high class juvenile organizations.

BOYS' BAND CONTINUES EFFORTS FOR STATE FAIR

Management of Local Band Has Not Given Up Hopes of Furnishing Music at Big Event.

For the past several weeks the management of the Maysville Boys' Band has been making an effort to capture the contract for music at the Kentucky State Fair this year and the following letter received today from Governor Morrow is quite encouraging:

Frankfort, Ky., January 20, 1921. Col. J. Barbour Russell, Maysville, Ky.

"My Dear Friend: I am in receipt of your letter concerning the Boys' Band at the State Fair.

"I want to assure you of my most hearty cooperation. I'll bust a billy for the band at any time. I am today sending your letter to Mr. Hanna and asking him to take it up with Secretary Carney Cross at Louisville.

"The Maysville Boys' Band is good enough to play for anybody's fair at any place and time. Most sincerely yours, EDWIN P. MORROW."

HILLSBORO GIRL MISSING.

Thelma Raines, 16, daughter of Samuel Raines, 235 East Lillo avenue, Hillsboro, Ohio, has been absent from her home since Tuesday. Her father was in Cincinnati Friday searching for her, as he is of the opinion that she went to Cincinnati. The girl is a freshman in the Hillsboro High school and has been active in church work. Raines said he could not account for his daughter's absence, as she had not intimated a desire to leave home. She is his only child. Miss Raines is five feet tall and is stout. She wore a brown cloak with a buckle in the back tan shoes and overshoes, black stockings, mixed blue and gray cap with a tassel and a woolen tallmood navy blue suit with an anchor emblem sewed on one of the upper sleeves. She carried a light tan suit case.

MUCH IMPROVEMENT IS SEEN IN TOBACCO SALES HERE TODAY

Prices Are Better and Steady and the Growers Seem More Pleased Than Since the Local Market Was Opened on Monday.

Tobacco was staidier on the Maysville looseleaf market today than it had been at any time this season. Sales at the Peoples and Liberty warehouses this morning were quite satisfactory and for the first time this year the growers seemed pleased with the progress of the sales.

While prices were still low in comparison with last year's figures, they were much better than they were Wednesday and Thursday and there was a much steadier tone to the market. There was not the jumping up and down in prices which was so noticeable in Thursday afternoon's sale and in all the sales Wednesday.

Growers on the streets this afternoon were much pleased with the prices the better grades were bringing. The low grades continued to sell very low but this is expected by all growers who know anything about any of this year's market.

Sales were snappy with much more life than they have had for several days and there was a keen rivalry between the buyers to the profit of the growers.

FELL THROUGH BRIDGE ASKS DAMAGES OF COUNTY

Brown County Men Files Suit Against County Commissioners For Injuries Sustained.

The action which W. H. O'Reilly brings against the County Commissioners of Brown county, Ohio, reached the Common Pleas court the first of the week when entry was filed asking damages in the sum of $10,000. Besides this amount the petition alleges that for medical services he had to expend $272.20, and that he lost oats valued at $39.

The petition alleges that on August 28th he was passing over a bridge at Moore's Fork, in Perry township. He was riding upon a wagon in which he was hauling oats. That while he and wagon and horses were upon bridge planks gave way, causing bridge to fall, carrying his outfit with him. For injuries sustained and loss he asks that he be reimbursed in the sum of $10,326.20.

Wad Liles, of Mouth of Laurel, was in town Tuesday. "It will be remembered that some 16 years ago Mr. Liles was struck by lightning and knocked down. His face and back was much severely burned and for years it was thought he never would recover, but he gets about pretty well to have suffered so severe a shock. The same stroke knocked his two horses down and they both fell on him. They also recovered but were never much good thereafter. A hog twenty feet away was killed outright. —Vanceburg Sun.

SAILORS SAVED FROM DEATH ON SINKING BRITISH SCHOONER

Captain and Crew of English Boat Which Sinks in Mid-Atlantic, Battle Rescued.

Newport News, Jan. 21. — Rescued from a watery grave as their ship was sinking under them in mid-Atlantic, the captain and crew of five of the British schooner Newton Lake have arrived here on board the British steamer Bournemouth.

The schooner sank in a few moments after the men were taken off. The Bournemouth's master risked his ship and crew to make the rescue. Seas were running high, lashed by a stiff gale, and it was impossible to launch a small boat. The steamer was worked around to the windward and allowed to drift down on the schooner. Every man swept the schooner decks and her crew clung to her rigging for their lives. The two hulls crashed together, ropes were thrown over and rescue quickly effected.

Food and warmth soon revived the exhausted men, who said they had struggled against the elements 46 days, since leaving Lisbon with a cargo of salt, their ship finally springing a leak.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

LENINE THE ICONOCLAST.

For two years past the socialist parties all over the world have been inclined to follow the political fortunes of Lenine, Trotsky and company with sympathetic interest. This was as long as the Bolshevik regime was a mere experiment, carried on several hundred or several thousand miles from the various socialist centers. If the experiment succeeded, so much the better for socialism in general. If it failed, so much the worse for the Russian mudjik, the "corpus vile" at whose expense it was being carried out.

Then Lenine reversed the roles. He founded the third international, acceptance of which was to the acid test of pure socialism all over the world. It was to become the center, the ruling body, and its precepts were to be accepted by socialists all over the world. Those who failed to do so were to be placed beyond the pale, as little better than the allies of the hated bourgeoisie. But when the socialist parties in the various parts of the world regard the devastation Lenine has worked in their ranks they may be forgiven for believing in their turn that the Russian leader is working in the interest of the hated capitalists.

The exploits of Carl Liebknecht and the other leaders of the Spartans, of Bolshevik movement in Germany did more to consolidate the bourgeois parties in Germany than all the propaganda of Count Reventlow and the other leaders of Prussian Junkerism. In France Lenine has split the socialist party hopelessly in two, thus diminishing its influence by fifty per cent. The victory of Bolshevism at the congress of Tours has been a boomerang of the worst kind and has caused the General Confederation of Labor, the most powerful labor organization in France, to line up solidly against the Moscow regime.

And not it is the turn of the Italian socialists. The seventeenth national congress, about to be held at Leghorn, gave Lenine opportunity for yet another pronouncement. His wireless dispatch to the Italian socialists proves him to be a hopeless "doctrinaire," incapable of learning anything or of forgetting anything. It spite of the object lessons of Germany and France, he still thinks he can lay down the law to socialism throughout the world and hurl anathema at all who refuse to accept his dictum.

In this dispatch, signed by Lenine, Trotsky, Zinovieff, Bukarin and Bela Kun, the former Bolshevik dictator in Hungary, the Moscow soviet denounces the concentration group led by Serrati. The split between that group and the revolutionary wing has already cost the socialist party its supremacy in the municipalities of Rome, Florence, Genoa and Turin. A complete secession, such as is now impending as the result of the Lenine intervention, would probably be the Waterloo of the parliamentary socialist party, which counts 150 members, if the astute Signor Giolitti should profit by their divisions to spring a general election on the country. — Washington Post.

THE CASE OF AUSTRIA.

The government of Austria has informed the Allies that it must turn over affairs to the reparations commission. Conditions have reached such a hopeless stage that no government can live. Austria, containing barely seven million people, almost one-third of whom are in the once proud city of Vienna; dethroned, dispossessed, stripped of territory and resources, agricultural and mineral; with her trade and communications destroyed; with shattered morale; with enemies on every side; with ruined credit, debased currency, and empty treasury, shivering and starving, abandons hope and ceases to struggle.

Vienna, once one of the world's most beautiful and brilliant capitals, is a dead city. Multitudes of her little children are perishing but for American charity. Her arteries have been tied off, her life-blood has ceased to flow. Thousands once prosperous, many once rich, now shiver in the cold and survive by a miracle on food rations handed out at relief kitchens.

The war debt of the country is more than its entire wealth. The sum of $250,000,000 is immediately required to save the situation. While already, since the armistice, in addition to $48,000,000 worth of food from this country, $25,000,000 has been advanced by the United States as a loan, and a similar sum by Great Britain, Denmark, Holland and Switzerland, a total of $125,000,000.

France has confessed her inability to render any further financial aid. The reparations commission is turning this way and that for assistance, and the prospects are sufficiently discouraging.

The Allies are responsible for the plight of Austria, which may well eventuate in one of the worst tragedies of modern history.

They insisted upon the dismemberment of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. It was consequently broken up, each bleeding part a fragment of a vast economic unit, which, when divided suffered from inanition.

It was also insisted that Austria should not unite with Germany, which was the natural and rational solution of the problem. Now the only suggestion that is offered in settlement of the question is that a Danubian confederation be organized. It is a project purely chimerical.

The predicament of Austria is another illustration of the utter unfitness of the statesmen who organized the Big Four, and fixed in secret the boundaries of nations and planned the supergovernment of the world, for the task with which they were confronted.

A DEAD CENTER.

Mr. Lloyd George says the league of nations has made a good start and is only at the beginning of its career. If the antics of the league at Geneva are only the beginning, the world has no desire to see any further progression.

Nashville Tennessean — Disarmament is like a formal event in society—none wants to arrive till the rest are there.

AN ELEVEN O'CLOCK AWAKENING.

The Department of Justice has taken up the work of the examining the testimony submitted to it by the Senate coal investigating committee tending to show a violation of the Lever Act. Aroused from its habitual lethargy by the insistence of the committee that it get busy and give the people the protection of the laws, the Department is doing what it ought to have done long ago. The Attorney General's aids have issued what amounts to a caution not to expect too much from their activities. The public reminded that it will be necessary to make a study of the transactions of each individual coal company with the War Department before it can be determined whether the law has been violated. Something seems to tell us it will be a long time before anybody is punished.

COME ACROSS, JOHN.

An estimate of the wealth of foreign nations, prepared by the New York State Savings Bank Association, values Great Britain at $230,000,000,000, an increase of $100,000,000,000 since 1914. The gain is partly represented by the added wealth of the Mesopotamian oil fields and the African territory taken from Germany. American gain in the same time is put at $50,000,000,000. There seems to be no valid reason why Great Britain should not give early attention to that little debt of $4,200,000,000 which she owes the United States, or to the annual interest of $200,000,000, which she professes inability to pay, or to the back interest of about $300,000,000, which she did not see fit to meet when due.

New York Letter

New York. — Here's another honest — well, frank, at least — landlord. One of the leading apartment house agents in the city was testifying before the housing committee the other day, when he was asked about the practicability of including 'phone service in the rent and charging enough to cover it. "That couldn't be done," he said, "because we charge as much rent as we can get, now."

For a good many years, Americans have been able to buy "old masters" only once in a great while when something unusual made it possible. But because of the impoverished financial condition of so many aristocratic and once wealthy families of the war-devastated mid-European countries, this country is now richer by 62 such paintings all with interesting histories, that are on display in New York. Most of them arrived after a series of adventures as nearly as turbulent as their one-time owners experienced. The "Burglar of Amsterdam," for example, one of the most valuable of them, was the property of Count Andrassy of Hungary, whose chateau was raided in 1919 by a Bolshevik mob, which destroyed most of his gallery, but tossed this little painting into the River Theiss. It floated about for three days and then was rescued by a fisherman, who restored it to the Count, who in turn sold it for enough to do considerable toward helping out his depleted exchequer.

Morris Greenburg, walker for the Pastime Athletic Club, has about decided to become a long distance runner, instead. He just found out the other night what he could do in this line. While competing in the one-mile walk at the Thirtieth Regiment Armory, some one broke into his locker and stole his clothes, leaving Morris attired almost as airily as any of the Follies girls. He started bravely forth, however, and ran from the Brooklyn point to his home way up in the Bronx. No one ever tried for any record on that difficult distance before. But if they had, Morris would have broken it, whatever it was. "And I was so scared of meeting a policeman at that hour of night that I didn't even mind the cold," he declares.

The world doesn't change much. Melodrama and romance are still with us. One of the oldest dramas in the world is that of the girl who throws herself in front of her lover and takes to her own body the shots — spears — javelins — whatever be the weapon of the times — intended for him. And Mary Martin, of Avenue A, was as spontaneous when she did that same scene the other night as have been the heroines of Italian operas or as was our own Pocahontas. Mary was walking home with John Burns, who came safely through the world war in spite of seven wounds, largely because he was coming home to marry Mary. "I've got you, now, John Burns," cried a voice from a dark doorway, but as the shots were fired, Mary swung in front of John, just in time to get them. Fortunately, she is recovering from the wounds, and it all ends happily as melodrama should.

An automobile company that meets dull times with a house to house canvass does something worthy of comment, in these days when we have been trained to expect an auto salesman to be our most up-stage acquaintance. That's what a New York concern is doing, though. Forty-five salesmen are out, canvassing from residence to residence right along in solid blocks for passenger cars and from plant to plant for truck orders. And

It is bringing results worth while, they say.

Harrison Fisher always has stood pretty solid with boarding school and other girls, who hang water color prints of beautiful maidens above their dressers and try to see how much they look like them. But the artist has now endeavored himself to a still wider feminine contingent. For he has come out flatfootedly and energetically against the critics of modern woman's clothes. "Never," he proclaims, "NEVER has woman dressed more beautifully or more SENSIBLY than at the present moment. Healthful, comfortable, lovely, are her clothes today."

The fight between Aldermanic President La Guardia and Comptroller Craig waxed merrier and merrier. New Yorkers have been getting some little enjoyment from it in these quiet days for some time, but the climax has proven more interesting than they had hoped. Mr. Craig scored one pretty heavily the other day when he unearthed the fact that Mr. La Guardia had sent personal telegrams which were charged to the city. With much éclat he waved the copies aloft and had them printed in the newspapers. Whereupon, Mr. La Guardia pulled his coup d'état, which seems something of a real hit. First explaining that the charging was a clerical error, he says, "But as for Mr. Craig, I shall have him prosecuted for violation of the penal code in having given out personal telegrams."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Hourbons Learn Nothing.

Washington, Jan. 19. — Lack of ordinary business sense has been characteristic of the while Wilson administration, and, judging by recent events, members of the cabinet have learned little by experience. Recently the War Department asked for appropriations aggregating $50,000,000 to begin the construction of permanent cantonments in the blue military areas into which the country has been divided. The Appropriations committee of the House cut this item out of the bill, and will leave the subject for future determination. Representative Good, of Iowa, chairman of the committee, told the House that it the plan of the department to abandon all the temporary buildings used for training purposes during the war, to abandon the permanent buildings at army posts erected at enormous expense, and erect new buildings at a time when construction costs are still high. "If this plan is to be adopted," said Mr. Good, "there is plenty of time in the future to adopt it and commence work upon it."

Everybody Glad But the Profiteers.

The communication from Senator Harding expressing his preference for a simple but stately inauguration ceremony involving no extra expense has received the hearty approval of practically everybody except those who expected to profiteer during the period when Washington would be crowded with inauguration visitors. It is reported that some of the hotels had put the inauguration rates up to $250 per room, and people owning buildings along Pennsylvania Avenue were planning to reap a small fortune from leasing space at windows to watch the parade. Calling off the elaborate ceremonies will save the Government not only the cost of preparing grand stands and reviewing stands but the cost of transporting and caring for soldiers of the infantry, light artillery and cavalry, members of the marine corps and sailors in the navy. During the Taft inauguration the weather was extremely severe, notwithstanding which thousands of soldiers enduring the sufferings of exposure and many of them were made seriously ill thereby. At the Wilson inaugural some of the military and other organization stood in line for many hours before the parade began, suffering for want of food and drink and enduring the hardships of what seemed interminable delay. All this will be avoided as a result of Senator tor Harding's request that an elaborate inauguration ceremony be dispensed with.

Representatives of the Nation.

Congressman Louis W. Fairfield, of Indiana, is opposed to any further increase in the membership of the House of Representatives. His answer to the charge that present representation is inadequate is that members not only represent their own district but the whole country. With further restriction of their districts they would tend to become more provincial in their thoughts and the welfare of the nation as a whole would suffer.

"While it is true," declares Mr. Fairfield, "that every member of Congress is immediately answerable to the folks at home and should work diligently for every legitimate interest of the people of his own district, yet in a far larger sense he solemnly obligates himself in the interest of the whole country."

RALPH D. PAINE TO WRITE NOVEL ON CENTRE COLLEGE.

Danville, Ky., Jan. 19.—Ralph Delahaye Paine, New Hampshire, war correspondent and author, has been sent here by a Boston publisher to write a novel with Centre College and its nitities as a background. "I became interested in Danville and Centre College when the 'wonder team' visited Harvard last fall," Mr. Paine said. These young men made a splendid impression, not only as players, but as gentlemen. It is because of this that I have come to find data for a novel, which I hope will be of much historical value."

Mr. Paine "covered" the Spanish-American War and the Boxer Rebellion for American newspapers and was with the allied fleets during the World War. He is the author of a number of stories of adventure and college life.

EVER HAVE IT?

Ever have a "low-down" pain in the back?

In the "small" right over the hips? That's the home of backache.

If it's caused by weak kidneys. Use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Maysville people testify to their worth. Read a case of it:

Mrs. R. L. Mattingly, 207 West Second street, Maysville, says: "I was in a bad condition with my back and kidneys. I couldn't get my proper rest at night owing to the dull misery in my back. I was feeling so miserable I often had to let my housework go undone. I was dizzy by spells and also suffered from rheumatic pains. I have been so bad that I couldn't walk without pushing a chair in front of me and my lower limbs were very painful. My kidneys were in a bad condition owing to their irregular action. My mother had used Doan's Kidney Pills successfully and that led me to send to Wood & Son's Drug Store and get a couple boxes. After using them I was all right. I have felt well since using Doan's and recommend them gladly."

Price 60c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mattingly had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

WILSON TO BRING U. S. HISTORY UP TO DATE

President Will Devote Time After Leaving Office to Writing His American History Up to the Present.

Washington, Jan. 21. — America soon will know the story of its participation in the World War and peace negotiations from its first authority—Woodrow Wilson.

The President's first work after leaving the White House will be to bring his own history of the United States up to date.

This will include his own eight years in office.

Students of events hope he will reveal and interpret situations preceding America's entry into the war, its part in the conflict and its difficulties at the peace table, which only the President knows all about.

Writing this work is expected to take Wilson a comparatively short time, as his personal notes on events are complete and thoroughly systematized.

One reason for his remaining in Washington is that he will be convenient to national records.

HITS IDEAL JAIL FOR $30; WILL USE IT FOR WOODSHED.

Wausau, Wis., Jan. 21. — Joseph Jelks today bought the Wausau jail for $30 and will use it for a woodshed. City officers, in explaining the sale, said that since the advent of prohibition the jail, which had been in service for eighty years, had been idle.

THE HARDEST HEADED MAN YET HEARD OF.

Huntsville, Ala., Jan. 21. — The claim of Joseph Jones of Merrimac, to hospital attaches here that he had "some bean" was borne out today when his story that he had been kicked by a mule on the head and that as a result the animal was lying helpless with a broken leg was investigated and found to be true.

Jones said his way was blocked by a stray mule and he made a threatening gesture to frighten it away. It refused to stampede, however, meeting the assault with a well directed kick to the brow. The mule's leg was broken in two places. It was pronounced a helpless scribble and shot. Jones will recover.

CARTER COUNTY MAN MURDERED IN WOODS

Friends Find Missing Man Fatally Wounded; Dies Telling of Murder.

Olive Hill, Ky., Jan. 21. — "Boys, I did not shoot myself. He went that way—" The speech gave way to the death rattle and a hand raised to point the direction taken by his murderer dropped in death.

Ora M. Edon, 33 years old, Soldier, Ky., just across the line from Rowan, in Carter county, went hunting yesterday and when he failed to return to his home his friends organized a searching party.

Thursday afternoon he was found in a woods dying. His last bit of strength was expended in furnishing a slender clue to help in the capture of the slayer.

Captain V. C. Mullikin has taken blood hounds to the scene of the crime. Edon was a married man and so far as could be learned, had no personal enemies.

SCHOOLS CUT SHORT.

Vanceburg, Ky., Jan. 21. —Owing to the continued increase in the cost of operating for the past few years, the Vanceburg public school, under the new existing tax law, will be compelled to close its term for this year about the 25th of March, giving its patrons a seven months, instead of heretofore a nine months school, unless some other means can be devised whereby sufficient funds may be secured to finance the school for the other two months.

HAD NEWS FOR SMOKERS.

Washington. — The first day of the second year of the Volstead era had hardly dawned when along came bad news for smokers.

Dr. George Roberts, of Alexandria, Va., said that according to his studies of the stars, tobacco is due to kill a flock of people between now and next year. Neptune is in the sign Leo, according to the astrologer, and as former controls narcotics and the latter the heart. It is easy to figure out that many people will die of tobacco heart.

JOHN D. LOGAN DIES SUDDENLY.

WOMEN SERVE ON JURY IN NEARBY OHIO COUNTY

Five Women Are Chosen to Fill Out Panel of Clermont County Grand Jury.

When the grand jury was convened for the January term of the Clermont county term of Common Pleas Court it was found that there were five vacancies. Being early Monday morning, it was noticeable among those assembled in the court room that there were five ladies. When the regular routine was gone through in opening court, Clery Coyle announced the vacancies, and immediately the names of these women were called to serve as jurors, the first in the history of Clermont county. They were Marie Gregg, Martha Reed, Catherine Henricl, Caroline Mattox and Miss Mary Homan, all residents of Batavia. There were only two cases to pass upon and two witnesses to examine, yet it is said they performed their portion of the deliberations with credit, the only demerit being that while the men removed their hats, the women sitting in the jury box wore theirs, just a little oversight which can be quickly remedied.
